Description

An appealing traditional house that could be turned into an attractive family home. This house with its notable painted cornices - an element in traditional Greek houses - lies on the corner of the village road entering Gardelades. The main entrance of the ground floor leads via a hallway into the living room and what was once the old kitchen area. The kitchen with fireplace leads out to a small courtyard up front where outside stairs lead to the second floor. The layout of the ground floor makes it clear that this was once the storage space of the house. The bathroom was added at a later date. On the first floor the numerous windows let in abundant light. There is a corridor, two spacious bedrooms and a storage room / third bedroom. The outside stairs also lead to a terrace over the kitchen. From here there is a nice view over the neighbouring houses towards the hills and the village of Doukades. The house needs renovation but it also gives the new owner different possibilities to turn it into a nice family home.
