Description

A interesting combination of small apartments in a beachside village. The property consists of one house of 2 floors, the top floor is a one bedroom apartment, and the ground floor a studio plus a separate cottage in a small piece of land. These could also be combined with a further property offering either 2 houses, or 1 combined. This first house consists of a studio on the ground floor and a one bedroom apartment on the upper floor, both with balconies with view downs to the sea, plus an additional cottage set in a small plot of land. These are for sale as one unit but can be used separately, and the studio and apartment are currently used as holiday lets. To make one house an interior staircase could be installed. This combination of small houses/apartments is literally a few steps from the beach, and can be used in a variety of configurations. The adjacent properties are also for sale (ref 19010) - the price for everything combined is 480.000 euro
