Description

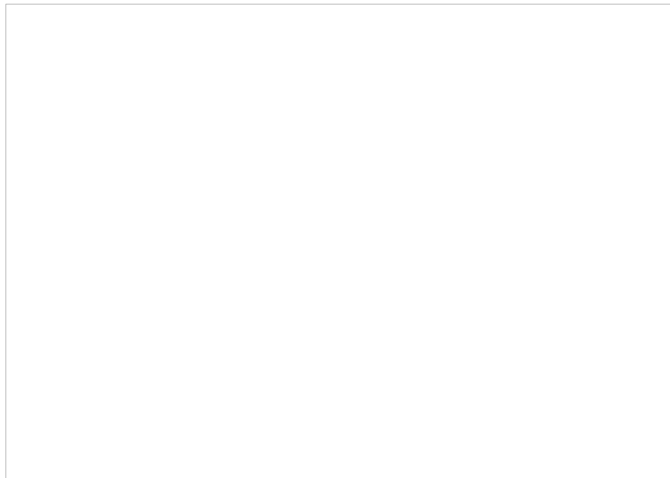

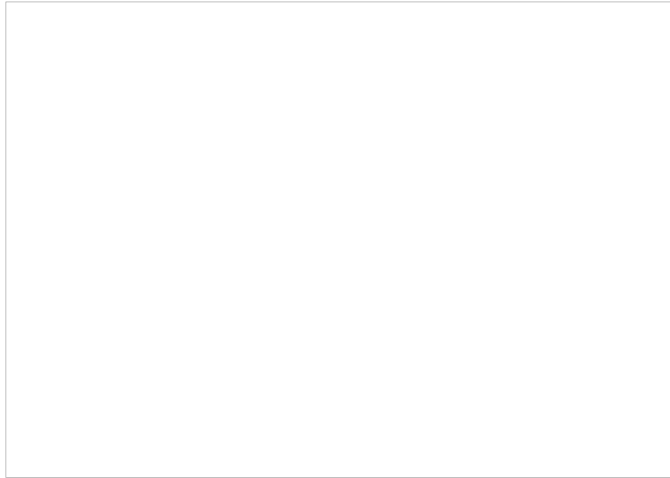

Few projects of this size can be found in today's Menorca. We are delighted to be able to present this property in the centre of Mahon, on the corner of two streets and in one of the busiest squares of the town. The original house dates back to 1783 and retains many of the features of that time making it a unique property. The current build exceeds 1,100 square metres and with the possibility to expand, this property could be converted into a hotel (accepted use because of its location and features) or into a large family residence or an apartment building. Currently there are several rented premises on the ground floor, housing various businesses. The uninhabited living space in this project is waiting to be brought back to life. Its patios at the back, its origins, its inclusion into part of the old wall of Mahon, its imposing façade and a terrace which could give incredible views of the town and is in such a privileged position. Please do not hesitate to contact us for further information.
