Its an experience you will never tire of with high end villas, manicured lawns, and well maintained gardens. When you reach this corner lot villa close to the ocean front and the excellent restaurant down the road you cannot but notice the abundance of tropical trees and plants that greet you. There is ample room to park a number of cars in the entrance. You then walk along a long covered pathway to the main door where upon opening you are immediately struck by the size of the main living area. There is so much space and light from windows in the vaulted ceiling and the wide high quality German folding patio doors at the far end. The temptation is to immediately head for the pool and garden as the color exuding from the tropical ferns and fruit trees draws you there. You will spend many hours relaxing in this area with its large swimming pool and shady palapas where you will entertain family and friends. There is already a large selection of fruit trees, as well as, purpose built stone sections were the present owner grows a number of herbs. As you would expect in such a fine house the kitchen to the right of the main entrance has everything you need including a view of the garden and palapas and its own set of patio doors to allow the Easterly ocean breeze flow through the villa as you prepare or supervise a meal. You may decide to have a live-in housekeeper to help maintain this large villa as there is accommodation to the left of the main entrance alongside the storage room. The main feature is undoubtedly the large spacious living area with dining area to the left, a four-seater table near the entrance where the family can plan the next adventure. There is an a half circle sofa on the far left facing the television with another area of comfortable chairs to the right near to a small work space against the wall. Everyone, in the family could be in the same living area but enjoying their own space. To the left is a small corridor leading to the master bedroom with en-suit bathroom and walk in cupboard. All the bedrooms have slatted wooden windows to allow the welcoming breeze on a night so you may not need to use the air conditioner. On the opposite side of the living area are three large bathrooms, also with en suite bathrooms and plenty of storage space. One of the bathrooms has two doors for use by visitors. Children will love not only the house and garden but also the freedom to ride their bikes throughout the Ranch unattended. They could go fishing in the ocean that is just across the road.
