Description

Picture this: your morning coffee on the covered back porch, watching the kids play in the spacious yard while you plan the day ahead. This is the kind of home where life just flows where there's room for everyone to spread out, yet cozy corners that bring you back together. Step inside this beautifully maintained brick home, and you'll immediately feel the warmth. Fresh paint brightens every room, and updated light fixtures add that perfect modern touch throughout. The main level welcomes you with a thoughtful layout that makes daily life effortless whether you're prepping dinner while helping with homework, hosting friends for game night, or simply enjoying a quiet evening at home. The kitchen opens to living spaces that invite conversation and connection. You can already see holiday gatherings here, birthday celebrations, and those ordinary Tuesday nights that somehow become your favorite memories. Four generous bedrooms upstairs mean everyone gets their own retreat—a place to read, create, dream, and recharge. And with two and a half baths, morning routines flow smoothly even when everyone's rushing out the door. But here's where it gets really special: step outside to your covered back porch. This is your extended living room from spring through fall—morning coffee spot, afternoon reading nook, evening gathering place for s'mores and stories. The nearly third-acre lot gives you privacy and possibility. Garden beds? Play equipment? Fire pit gatherings? It's your canvas. The Century Oaks neighborhood itself is the kind of community people search years to find. Tree-lined streets where neighbors wave and kids ride bikes. A sparkling community pool where summer friendships are forged over cannonball contests. Walking trails that wind through the area, perfect for evening strolls or morning jogs. This is the neighborhood where your people live where you'll find yourself lingering at the mailbox chatting with neighbors, where kids play on the playground, where you'll know everyone at the pool, where your family finds their tribe. And let's talk about what this location offers your household. You're zoned to some of the most sought-after educational options in Winston-Salem—the kind that give families peace of mind and set young people up for success. The commute? Easy access to major routes means less time in the car and more time for what matters. Winston-Salem's best conveniences are just minutes away—grocery runs that don't eat up your Saturday, favorite local restaurants for Friday night treats, shopping when you need it, parks and greenways when you want to explore. You're close enough to everything that counts, yet tucked into a peaceful neighborhood that feels like a world away. This home has been lovingly maintained and is truly move-in ready. No long punch lists, no waiting for contractors—just unpack, settle in, and start living. The brick exterior means timeless curb appeal and solid construction you can count on for years to come. What really makes this special is the flexibility it offers. Need a home office? You've got options. Want a playroom that can evolve into a study space? Done. Dreaming of a hobby room, gym, or creative studio? There's space for that too. This home grows with you. Whether you're relocating to the area, moving up from something smaller, or simply ready for the neighborhood and lifestyle you've been dreaming about—this is your moment. Come see why Century Oaks families put down roots and stay. Come imagine your furniture in these rooms, your garden in this yard, your life unfolding in this wonderful community. Schedule your showing today and discover your next chapter at 4855 Century Oaks Lane.
