Description

A newly built, comfortable home in a very convenient location, close to all facilities yet private and peaceful, this is a very lovely property. Built by its current owners, all on one level for ease of living, the design of this house is simple, but very elegant. Set in a large plot of mainly level land, the house is surrounded by mature trees and greenery. The beach and facilities at Ipsos are a few minutes walk away, but the area here is quiet and peaceful. A driveway leads from the side to the back of the house and has ample parking for several cars. The covered porchway welcomes you to the glazed front door, and into the large living/dining room. At one end of the living room is an open fireplace, perfect for cozy winter evenings, and large modern windows overlooking the garden and allowing lots of light to flood inside. The kitchen is definitely a keen cook's kitchen, with lots of spacious worktops, modern units and a breakfast table in the centre. This has patio windows opening onto a covered terrace for outside dining. At the other end of the house are two bedrooms. The master bedroom is large, with a spacious bathroom with a bathtub and a walk in shower. The other room is smaller, but with ample space for a guest room, and there is a separate shower room. Throughout the house large light coloured floor tiles have been used and the ceilings are high with exposed wooden beams. These features add to the overall feeling of space and brightness. There are also several spaces above the two bathrooms, ideal for use as loft storage. In addition to the main house, there is an existing building licence for the construction of a further 60m² house.
