Description

There are ski homes, and then there are homes that truly define what ski-in/ski-out living is meant to be. Positioned directly on Windham Mountain Club's coveted White Way trail, this extraordinary timber-frame residence offers what is arguably the most desirable slope-side location on the mountain. No shuttles. No parking lots. No loading gear into the car. Simply step into your heated ski room, click into your bindings, and glide directly onto White Way. Built with timeless timber-peg construction, the home embraces the character and warmth of a classic mountain lodge while delivering the space and comfort expected in a luxury retreat. From the moment you step inside, you're welcomed by the calming aroma of natural wood--a subtle yet unmistakable reminder that you've escaped to the mountains. Rich wood-clad walls, soaring vaulted ceilings, and exposed beams create an atmosphere that is both grand and comforting, evoking the feeling of a private alpine retreat. Walls of glass flood the home with natural light while framing breathtaking mountain views in every season. The remarkable great room serves as the heart of the home, anchored by a magnificent wood-burning fireplace and framed by two stories of windows that bring the mountain directly indoors. During ski season, the ever-changing backdrop is nothing short of magical as cherished guests carve their way down the trail just beyond the glass. The open-concept floor plan was designed for gathering. The kitchen, dining, and living spaces flow seamlessly together, creating the perfect setting for après-ski entertaining and holiday weekends. A heated ski and boot room with brick flooring offers direct access to both the expansive deck and the trail, providing a dedicated space to store equipment, shed winter gear, and transition effortlessly from the slopes to the warmth of the home. The first floor features a private en-suite bedroom with direct deck access, ideal for guests. Upstairs, the primary suite occupies a privileged position of its own, complete with a walk-in closet, double vanities, a separate shower, and a soaking tub perfectly positioned to capture serene mountain views. An adjoining flex room offers endless possibilities such as a private office, fitness room, reading retreat, or additional sleeping space, allowing the entire second floor to function as an exclusive owner's sanctuary. The lower level accommodates additional bedrooms and baths, along with laundry and utility spaces, providing ample room for all your guests. A recently replaced roof adds peace of mind, while the quality craftsmanship and enduring beauty of the timber-frame construction ensure this home will remain as timeless as the mountain itself. Opportunities to own true ski-in/ski-out property at Windham Mountain Club are exceptionally rare. Opportunities to own one directly on White Way are rarer still. For those who dream of first tracks in the morning, unforgettable après-ski evenings by the fire, and a home that fully embraces the mountain lifestyle, this is the one. Drone video available on most sites showing the direct trail access. 3D virtual tour and floorplans available upon request.
