Description

When the Eaton Fire swept through Altadena, this home stood untouched - the only structure within a two-block radius to survive. Featured across news and social media as "the blessed house," this is more than a property. It is a homecoming. Entertain across three distinct patio areas, a sparkling pool, a private pickleball court, and a dedicated art studio - all framed by mature, shady trees and 40 feet of Trex decking. A sweeping 75-foot circular driveway sets the tone before you even step inside. Inside, a striking wood-burning stone fireplace anchors soaring vaulted ceilings beneath modern chandeliers. Custom white oak and olive green cabinetry surrounds a quartz island in the chef's kitchen. Brushed gold fixtures, designer tile in every bathroom, and an individual laundry room complete this fully remodeled retreat. Altadena is coming home. Come with it
